Job Description

Data Structures Algorithms Java Python

Location: Bangalore

Function: Software Engineering → Backend Development

Responsibilities:

- The complete ownership and accountability of the product lies with the engineer.
- In other words, the engineer is like an entrepreneur running that bit of business within the company.
- You are expected to work closely with your stakeholders like operations and business growth teams to pave the way for your product.
- The entire codebase is your playground and you are here to solve your customer's problem. That means you never block on some other engineer or team.
- To solve a problem, say, if something has to be changed in search service or something new has to be built on our App, you as an engineer are expected to make these changes everywhere and plan the launch, training, marketing of your product.
- Beginning of every quarter you are expected to publish key capabilities that you intend to launch.
